

MEET OUR AUDIOLOGISTS

Dr. Kristen Rubin

Dr. Kristen Rubin, along with her husband Scott Rubin, is the owner of Keystone Audiology. She was drawn to the field of Audiology because it gave her the ability to greatly improve a patient's quality of life. She enjoys getting to know her patients and their families, and helping them to break down the communication barriers that hearing loss can cause.

She grew up in Warwick, Rhode Island and received her Bachelor of Arts Degree in Communication Disorders from the University of Connecticut. She received her Doctorate in Audiology from Salus University in Pennsylvania, where she lived and worked for several years in Philadelphia before returning to the Ocean State to continue her career in 2015.

Dr. Rubin has extensive clinical experience with the newest technology and prides herself on continuing her education and attending several training classes throughout the year to keep up with industry updates. Dr. Rubin holds her Certificate of Clinical Competence with the American Speech and Hearing Association, is a fellow of the American Academy of Audiology, and is licensed as an Audiologist by the Rhode Island Department of Health.

When outside of the office, Dr. Rubin enjoys spending time with her family and friends, traveling, and cooking. She and her husband have one son born in 2017 and look forward to growing their family. She is also an avid sports fan and particularly enjoys watching college basketball. She is happy to be back in Rhode Island to enjoy our beautiful summer and fall weather outdoors.

Dr. Marguerite Belisle

Dr. Belisle joined the Keystone Audiology team in 2019 after completing her year long externship at Connecticut Children's Medical Center. She obtained her Doctorate of Audiology from Washington University in St. Louis and her Bachelor of Fine Arts from the University of New Hampshire. Dr. Belisle has been a hearing aid user since childhood and finds fulfillment in helping adults and children manage their hearing loss.

In addition to Rhode Island, Dr. Belisle has had the opportunity to live in states all across the country including California, New Hampshire, North Carolina, Massachusetts, Missouri, and Illinois. She enjoys creating all kinds of art including painting, drawing, and ceramics, cooking, rock climbing, and adventuring to new places near and far.

Dr. Belisle sees patients in the office as well as managing the educational audiology aspect of the practice. This involves traveling to schools throughout Rhode Island and Southern Massachusetts to care for students with hearing loss and auditory processing disorders.

Sarah Caldwell

Sarah Caldwell, an audiology doctoral student, re-joined the Keystone Audiology team in June 2019. She previously completed a clinical rotation at our practice during the summer of 2018. She will be completing her yearlong externship at Keystone before earning her Doctorate of Audiology from the University of Connecticut in May 2020.

Sarah is from Cranston, Rhode Island and received her Bachelor of Science degree in Communication Sciences & Disorders from the University of Vermont. Before beginning graduate school, she worked as both a newborn hearing screener and worked in public services for the Rhode Island Bar Association.

Sarah is happy to be back in the Ocean State where she can most often be found at the beach with her dog, regardless of season! She also enjoys live music, travel, and spending time with her friends and family.

MEET OUR OFFICE STAFF

Pamela Weeden

Pamela Weeden joined Keystone Audiology in January of 2016. She has over seven years of experience in the medical field and has a passion for helping patients and families get the most from their healthcare. Before moving to the medical field, Pamela worked in childcare for over ten years, and as a homemaker raising her children and caring for her grandparents.

Pamela is a graduate of Pilgrim High School and CCRI, and is proud to have lived in Warwick, Rhode Island her entire life. In her spare time, she enjoys cooking, gardening, photography, and spending time with her husband and two children.

Scott Rubin

Scott Rubin manages operations within the office and oversees most of the day to day administrative tasks. He also performs minor repairs and adjustments to hearing aids. Originally from Lancaster, Pennsylvania, he graduated from Penn State University with a degree in finance, and earned a Masters of Business Administration degree at Providence College. Scott spent several years living in Philadelphia working in the financial services industry before continuing his career in Rhode Island. Scott has been with Keystone Audiology since 2016.

When outside of the office, Scott maintains an active lifestyle by playing golf, running, and playing ice hockey. He also enjoys traveling and spending time with family and friends.

ABOUT OUR OFFICE

Keystone Audiology is a family owned and operated practice. We pride ourselves on giving our patients the best experience in healthcare, through educating and supporting them on their path to better hearing. Our team works as a collective group to provide you with the most comprehensive experience in patient care. Our team includes Dr. Kristen Rubin, Dr. Marguerite Belisle, our Patient Care Coordinator Pamela Weeden, office manager Scott Rubin, and our audiology doctoral student Sarah Caldwell.

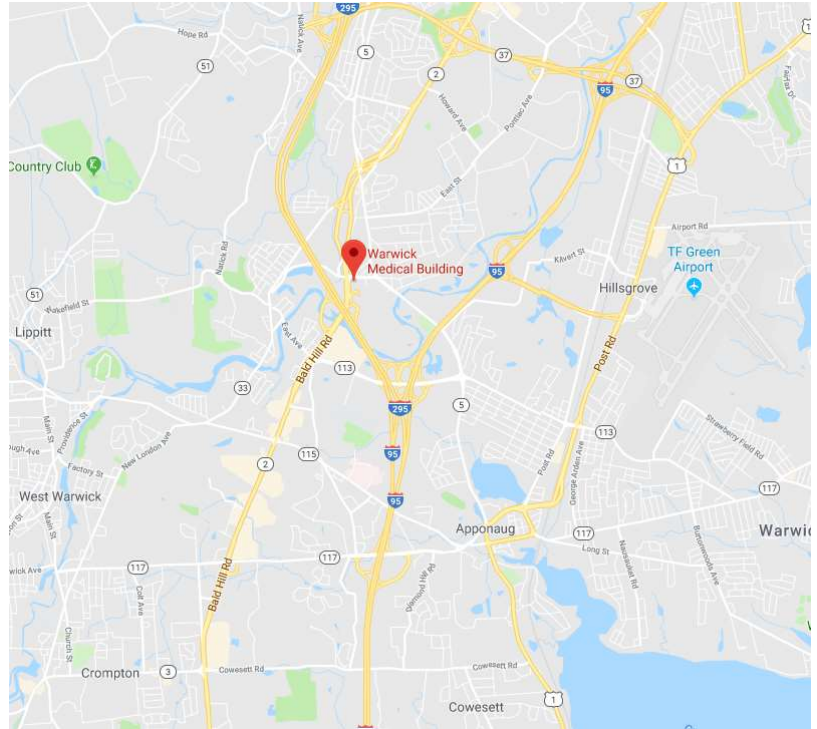

Together, we will work with you and your family to break down the communication barriers caused by hearing loss. In the office, we provide diagnostic hearing evaluations for adults, tinnitus evaluations, hearing aid evaluations and recommendations, hearing aid fittings, hearing aid adjustments and repairs, and educational audiology services. We also have a hearing aid lab on site, so we can perform many repairs right in the office.
